TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 4, 1744.

Berlin, Auguſt 29.

ON the 26th the Queen was at the French Playhouſe, and returned in the Evening to Schonhauſen, where, the next Day, there was a very numerous Court. The Prince of Anhalt Zerbſt, who was here ſome time, is returned to his Reſidence at Zerbſt. They are making great Preparations at Magdebourg for a Camp of 25 or 30,000 Men, which are ſhortly to aſſemble there, under the Command of the Prince of Anhalt Deſſau, who is the oldeſt Velet-Marſhal in his Majeſty's Service. It appears now, that the King, our Sovereign, never undertook any Thing better concerted, than his Expedition into Bohemia; which will, probably, be ſupported by moſt of the Princes and States of the Empire. The Emperor's Letters requiſitorial open'd a Paſſage thro' Saxony; and his Imperial Majeſty's Commiſſorial Decree has inclined the Duke of Brunſwick, and other Princes, to hold their Troops in Readineſs to take the Field. Thus his Majeſty's Example is like to contribute no leſs to the Emperor's Service, than his Arms.

Prague, Auguſt 22. The Van of the Pruſſian Troops that march'd from Sileſia thro' the County of Glatz, are already arrived in the Circle of Buntzlaw; and thoſe that march thro' Saxony, have begun to enter the Kingdom alſo; and their Artillery is remounting the Elbe. We expect therefore, very ſoon, to ſee our Enemies at the Gates of this City; and therefore we ſpare neither Care nor Coſt to provide for their Reception. We have, within theſe few Days, receiv'd from Vienna a vaſt Quantity of Ammunition; and from the Low Countries in the Neighbourhood, ſeveral Thouſand Loads of Corn. Yeſterday our Gariſon was augmented by a Battalion of the Regiment of Platz; and and we had ſome Huſſars, that arriv'd the Day before. The Militia enter this City hourly; and we have already 14,000, all ſtout Men, and extremely well diſpoſed.

Extract from a private Letter from General Bathiani's Camp at Meiſs, Auguſt 24, 1744.

'As we are obliged to regulate our Motions by thoſe 'of the Pruſſian, our Army ſeems to march but ſlowly. 'We have encamped at Waidhauſen from the 14th to 'the 19th, when we marched to Heid; and to Day we 'marched on to Meiſs. Our Artillery we expect from 'Munich, and our Pontons from Stadt-am-hoff. We 'are aſſured that his Majeſty of Pruſſia aſſembles this Day 'his whole Army at Peterſwalda. We have left a very 'good Gariſon in Egra, and there is in Prague, at leaſt, '4000 old Troops, beſides the Militia and the Townſ'men. We have a very good Intelligence, that beſides 'this great Army employed in Bohemia, the Pruſſians 'will act with 20,000 Men in Moravia, 30,000 in the 'Upper Palatinate, and yet leave a Body of 10,000 to 'guard the Paſſes from Hungary; ſo that this Campaign 'they will have 140,000 Men in the Field, excluſive of 'the Camp of Obſervation at Magdebourg. It is, for 'all this, very doubtful, whether they will be able to 'make a conſiderable Progreſs in their Affairs this Sum'mer, ſince the Bohemians are now, in a Manner, all 'of them become Soldiers; and the Militia very good 'Troops. We expect a Reinforcement of 15,000 Men 'from the Army under Prince Charles of Lorrain; and 'as ſoon as we have receiv'd it, we ſhall make no Scruple 'to go in Search of the Enemy under the Walls of Prague, 'in order to convince them, that we are able to enter'tain them as well, or better, than when we met laſt at 'Otzzlaw.'

Spire, Auguſt 28. All the Auſtrian Army, except 15,000 deſtined to reinforce the Troops in the Briſgau, are in full March for Bavaria. The Body of German Troops in the French Service, which are to join the Imperial Army under Count Seckendorff, are encamped in our Neighbourhood; and we are well aſſured, that by the 15th of next Month the Imperial Army will be entirely formed, and will then conſiſt of 60,000 Men. A ſtrong Detachment from M. Coigny's Army is ordered directly into Flanders, in order to execute a Project form'd by Marſhal Count de Saxe. It is certain, that what has been reported of Prince Charles's loſing a great Number of Men in repaſſing the Rhine, is abſolutely without Foundation; and, on the contrary, the French Foot, who attack'd his Rear Guard, ſuffered ſo much, that a Hundred Waggons, full of wounded Men, were ſent the next Day to Strasbourg.

Paris, Auguſt 29. As ſoon as the Duke of Orleans returned from the Viſit he made to his Majeſty at Metz, he immediately retired to his Solitude at St. Genevieve. On the other Hand, the Cardinal de Tencin, M. Maillebois, and the Marquis de Maurepas, have Orders to attend his Majeſty, on Account, as it is reported, of a Project formed by the firſt, which is to be executed by the Latter, under the Direction of the Third. Orders have been ſent to Toulon to work Night and Day on the Ships that are equipping there. As for the Breſt Squadron, it ſtill continues on the Coaſt of Portugal. The Prince of Conti has demanded 15,000 Men; which, it is ſaid, will be ſent him. The Princes of the Blood are moſt of them ſet out for Flanders, from whence we expect ſome News of Importance before the End of the Campaign.

BALSAMICK STYPTICK,
Truly prepared and ſold at the Doctor's late Dwelling Houſe, now Mrs. DUTTON's, in Salisbury-Court, Fleet-ſtreet.

THIS Medicine reſtrains, in a moſt ſurprizing Manner, all internal as well as external Hemorrhages, i. e. it infallibly and quickly ſtops all dangerous Bleedings at the Noſe or Gums, ſpitting or vomiting Blood; alſo the immoderate Flux of the Hemorrhoids or Menſes; bloody Urine or Stools, bleeding of large Wounds, &c. (if uſed according to the plain Directions given with it) as will appear by the Certificates of ſeveral Eminent Phyſicians, and in the large Account of this Medicine, written by the Doctor himſelf, and dedicated to the College of Phyſicians a little before his Death.

It keeps good for many Years, at Sea or on Shore, in all Climates; therefore muſt be univerſally Uſeful.

The Doctor not only obtaining his Majeſty's Letters Patent for the ſole Vending of this moſt Excellent Medicine; but alſo a Clauſe in a late Act of Parliament, exempting this Medicine from the Inſpection of the Cenſors of the College of Phyſicians, to which all other Medicines are liable.
